DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 16-17, 19-29, and 33-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Adolph (EP 1,120,761) in view of McGregor et al (5,577,100) and Rossmann (EP 0,848,360).

Re Claims 16, 29: Adolph discloses wherein said mobile phone is being connected to said payment center via said mobile cellular telephone network (see [0022]); said payment center and the said payment terminal are being connected via a second direct connection (see [0021]); discloses a first interface means for coupling said mobile phone to the payment terminal device to transfer first data information between said mobile phone and said payment device, wherein said first data information is transferred between said payment terminal device and said payment center which are connected via a mobile cellular telephone network to said mobile phone (see [0022]); second interface means for coupling said payment terminal device and said payment center, for transferring second data information between said payment terminal device and said payment center (see [0024]); and data processing means, coupled to said first and said second interface means for processing data received from said first and said second interface means and for generating data for transmission to said first and/or said second interface means (see [0006], Figure 1); and wherein said second interface means comprises means for converting data transferred between second interface means and said payment center into data processed by said processing means and said payment center and vice versa (see [0024]).

However, Adolph fails to disclose the following limitation. Meanwhile, McGregor discloses wherein said first interface means comprises coupling means for coupling said first interface means to said mobile phone, for transferring data between said mobile phone and said processing means via said first interface means, and a modem, coupled to said coupling means for converting the data transferred between said mobile phone and said processing means via said first interface means (col. 2, line 8 – col.3, line 20, col.3, line 31- col.18, line 60, Figures 1,2). From the teaching of McGregor, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Adolph's invention with McGregor's disclosure of a coupling means in order to have "a mobile hone system with a mobile phone having internal accounting capabilities... (see McGregor Abstract)."

However, Adolph and McGregor both fail to disclose the following limitations. Meanwhile, Rossmann discloses wherein data transferred between said processing means and said mobile telephone are transferred as sound data or acoustic data, and said coupling means includes an acoustic coupler for transferring the sound data or acoustic data between said mobile phone and said payment terminal device or modem (see col.5, lines 34-35 and col.6, lines 45-47). From the teaching of Rossman, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Adolph's and McGregor's inventions with Rossmann's use of sound/acoustic data in order so that there is "a physical or acoustic connection between them... (see col.6, lines 45-46)."

Re Claim 17: Adolph discloses wherein said data transfer between said mobile phone and said payment terminal device is a one-way data transfer (see [0008]).

Re Claims 19-21, 33: Adolph fails to disclose the following. Meanwhile, Rossmann discloses wherein the acoustic coupler has a microphone/speaker for coupling to a speaker/microphone of a mobile phone. Rossmann also discloses wherein a distance between said microphone and said speaker is adjustable in order to adapt said acoustic coupler to different types of mobile phones (see col.5, lines 34-35 and col.6, lines 45-47). From the teaching of Rossman, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Adolph's invention with Rossmann's use of sound/acoustic data in order so that there

Re Claims 22, 34: Adolph discloses wherein the data processing means comprises at least a communication processor having cryptographic capability (see [0008]).

Re Claim 23: Adolph discloses wherein the payment terminal device comprises data input means (see [0022-0024]).

Re Claim 24: Adolph discloses wherein the data input means comprises at least one keyboard (see [0008]).

Re Claim 25: Adolph discloses wherein the payment terminal device comprises a printer (see [0022-0024]).

Re Claim 26: Adolph discloses wherein the payment terminal device comprises a display (see [0022-0024]).

Re Claim 27: Adolph discloses wherein the payment terminal device comprises an interface to a vending machine (see [0022-0024]).

Re Claim 28: Adolph discloses with an integrated payment terminal according to claim 16 (see [0022-0024]).

Conclusion

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
